Senior Sponsor Awarded 1972 el C Dedication

Dedication to a task that involved miles of red tape and devotion to a senior class of more than 1000 made Mrs. Ruth Roan a unique person. Almost hidden away in the "corner room by 249," Mrs. Roan faced hundreds of confused schedules and attendance mistakes daily. Her contagious enthusiasm and radiant generosity made the IBM room a place where students, as well as big black crows, loved to gather

With the same dedication, Mrs. Roan worked with the officers of the senior class to make 1972 even more successful than the years before. The priceless relationships she formed with students who worked in the IBM room and other seniors were the kind that lasted a lifetime. Recognizing her consistently highearted service to BA and its senior class, the annual staff wishes to dedicate the 1972 el Conquisiador to Mrs. Ruth Roan

The sun rises and day breaks, and we catch glimpses of our lives —
Listen to the exhortation of the dawn!
Look to this day,
For it is Life, the very life of Life!

from the Sanskrit

From a senior class of 1100 emerged a few students whose names were synonymous with the spirit of Bryan Adams. These were the individuals whose genuine interest in the school and natural desire to learn pushed them "above and beyond" in all of their activities. Volunteering for extra class work and spending hours on the symposiums, musical productions, tournaments, and publications for which BA is famous, these students gave 100% effort toward making the school live up to its standards of excellence. Their outstanding leadership, service, and concern won their respect from both the faculty and the student body.

In view of this unspoken respect, the el Conquistador proudly represents the entire school in recognizing these individuals. To them, we present the cherished "Gold Cougar Awards" and the "el C Salutes."

Gordon Evans

Quiet but firm dedication were fitting words used to describe Gordon Evans. Both in the classroom and in extracurricular activities, his faithfulness and perseverance marked him as an outstanding individual.

Gordon played varsity basketball for two years, and he served as co-captain this year. Under his leadership, BA won the Consolation Division Championship Prize at the Dr. Pepper Christmas Tournaments. Practicing long hours with the team and working closely with the coaches, Gordon dedicated his time and energy toward creating a better basketball team for Bryan Adams.

Gordon worked in the office all three of his years at BA, and his dependability made him a favorite with the administration. He approached his office duties with the same dedication and pride that made him a success as a basketball captain, and his responsible attitude toward school business won him respect from the faculty. As a member of Senior Council, Gordon gave anselfishly of his time to do whatever was needed of him. As an honors student, his classroom performances ichoed the determination that pushed him "above and beyond" in all of his other activities. All in all, Gordon was a sincere and determined individual who was firmly dedicated to BA. To such a person, the el Conquistador is proud to present the Gold Cougar Award.

Student Leaders Receive Gold Cougar

One of those people who never seem to meet a responsibility too big for them. Janice Grammer proved her leadership ability time after time at BA. Always concerned, she listened intently to the feelings of other people and stood up for her own in all situations. During her jumor year, she coordinated the activities of 300 girls as President of Spirits. Recognizing her sincere interest in BA students, the administration chose her to serve on the dress code committee with teachers, parents, and principals. As an active participant in the LIFE program, Janice worked many hours on planning the BA lab and Saturday session.

This year, Janice was Secretary of the Student Council and Co-humor Editor of the Senior Pub. Graciously accepting her duties, Janice met her responsibilities with enthusiasm. She worked faithfully in the office for three years and was a member of Cothurnus Club. Well-liked by both faculty and student body, it only seemed natural that Janice would carry two or three major responsibilities at a time. The el Conquistador is proud to recognize Janice Grammer by presenting her the Gold Cougar Award.

Janice Grammer

Patti Parker

Involvement was the key word that described Patti Parker's life at BA. With a natural desire for perfection, she did a lot, and she did it well

One of Patti's most outstanding activities was her position on SUPER-SAC, the Superintendent's Student Advisory Committee. She made frequent trips downtown to meet with Dr. Estes and to offer suggestions for creating harmony within the school district. Excelling in journalistic activities. Patti was photographer and ad manager for the Cougar Crossroads, and she won honorable mention for her photography at the Trinity University Journalism Workshop. Patti donated hours of her time as editor-in-chief of the Senior Pub, and she was elected State Vice-President of the Interscholastic League Press Conference. A two-year participant in Life Leadership Labs, Patti was one of the leaders in organizing Bryan Adams' labs.

Never seeming to run out of energy. Patti participated in Belles, Cothurnus Club, Thespans, National Honor Society, Senior Council, Quill and Scroll, and the tutoring program. Her enthusiasm did not stop with school activities, for she was the first teenager to be on the Inter-Club Council of the YMCA. An intelligent and interested girl, Patti received a letter of Commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation. The el Conquistador is proud to present the Gold Cougar Award to a person as vivacious and involved in life as Patti Parker.

Mike Reames

A prime example of the "perfect student," Mike Reames possessed qualities of leadership and academic ability that made him score high in all aspects of school life. As president of the National Honor Society, Mike dedicated hours to make the organization both fun and productive. Because of his outstanding leadership, character, scholarship, and service, Honor Society members chose him as a contestant for the $1000 NHS Scholarships.

Excelling in spelling and writing. Mike took second place in Texas during his junior year in the Interscholastic League Press Conference Spelling Competitions. During his senior year, he began studying spelling early in January for the March competitions. Besides pursuing English skills outside the classroom, Mike strengthened his knowledge of the sciences by being active in the Science Club, Math Club, and Mu Alpha Theta. He was a member of Student Council and Cougar Claws, and he maintained a steady "A" average throughout high school. One of few students who can reach such high degrees of achievement both within the classroom and in extra-curricular activities. Mike excelled at BA. Because of his personal abilities and his dedication to Bryan Adams, the el Conquistador proudly presents the Gold Cougar Award to Mike Reames.

El C Salutes Outstanding Students

Ross Bailey

Reflecting all the traits that are attributed to the "perfect" student, Ross Bailey impressed both the faculty and his fellow students with his character. One of the best trainers BA has ever had, he worked long and hard with the coaches and teams he managed. As a sophomore, Ross managed the B football team. During both his junior and senior years, he spent his fall semesters training the varsity football team and his spring semesters training the varsity baseball team. Both years each team did well in competition, and part of the credit must be given to the quality of training the team members received.

In addition to his athletic endeavors, Ross performed other activities with the same degree of excellence. In the classroom, he was the type of student that teachers enjoyed teaching and students enjoyed knowing. He tutored other BA students diligently, and his sportsmanship appeared as he did his best to help them achieve the same degree of excellence on the football field and baseball diamond. The el Conquistador is proud to honor Ross Bailey for his winning determination by presenting him an "el C Salutes."

As president of the Science Club, Leslie Prater kept busy planning the annual Science Symposium held in March. Typing letters, contacting speakers, and assigning students were only a few of the duties she fulfilled during the spring. Under the leadership of a new sponsor, the Science Club had a successful year with Leslie as its president.

An "ideal" student, Leslie donated many hours of her time to other subjects. She belinged to the Math Club and to Mu Alpha Theta, and she contributed much of her time to work on the Math Symposium. She was secretary-treasurer of the German Club, and she played an important part in building its success. In addition to these leadership responsibilities, Leslie donated her time and energy as a member of the Senior Pub staff and the National Honor Society.

During the school hours, Leslie's classroom performance matched up to her extracurricular activities. An honors student, she excelled in her studies, and she offered her understanding to others as a science lab assistant. The el Conquistador is proud to salute Leslie Prater.

Kathy Clemens

Time seemed to be no obstacle to Kathy Clemens as she performed her numerous duties at Bryan Adams. As President of Math Club and Mu Alpha Theta, Kithy spent many February weekends planning and organizing the annual Math Symposium. Her work proved to be successful as the Symposium drew over two hundred students from area schools. Kathy donated many more hours as secretary-treasurer of FTA. She worked closely with sponsor Mrs. Johnston and the other officers in compiling a scrapbook of FTA's activities to be presented at the February FTA Convention held downtown. As Vice-President of National Honor Society, Kathy contributed more of her time meeting with its officers and working at weekly meetings. She was also a member of Student Council, Spanish Club, Cothurnus Club, and Senior Council.

An excellent student, Kathy was one of the top students in every one of her classes. She donated her study halfs for two years and served as a lab assistant in mathematics classes. Because of her outstanding citizenship and character, she was awarded the DAR Good Citizenship Award. For these same qualities, the el Conquistador takes pride in saluting Kathy Clemens

Always willing to lend a hand, Kenny Wolfe was involved in almost every activity at BA. In the drama department, he denoted many hours and much energy to this year's productions. He was a member of the sound crew, Cothurnus Club, and Thespians, and he helped with the Musical, Senior Play, Variety Theatre, and NFL Talent Show. Being active in the math and science departments, Kenny was a member of Math Club and Mu Alpha Theta, and he participated in the Science Club for three years.

Kenny's love for the French language was apparent in his "conversations de Français." As President of the French Club, he instigated activities at the weekly meetings and helped to strengthen regard for the French language at BA. Donating hours to work on the faculty section of the el Conquistador, he pushed to meet his deadlines on time. Far "above and beyond the call of duty." he made layouts and cropped pictures for other staff members when deadlines were pressing. As a member of Quill and Scrotl and the Senior Assembly Committee, Kenny helped out where he was needed. He was honored for his willingness to join and to help in Merit's Who's Who Among High School Students. For the same reasons, the el Conquistador is proud to salute Kenny Wolfe

Kenny Wolfe

Laura Smith

Versatility was the key to Laura Smith's contribution to Bryan Adams. Serving as editor-in-chief of the el Conquistador, she was faced with the difficult responsibility of coordinating the staff's efforts into a quality yearbook. She worked continually to organize an annual reflective of student life at BA. Laura also served in a journalistic capacity as a humor writer on the Senior Pub. She was also a two-year member of Quill and Scroll, serving as vice-president her senior year.

Laura's enthusiasm and energy extended beyond her journalistic endeavors. She was active in LIFE Lab and helped direct the labs at Bryan Adams. An honor student, Laura was active in National Honor Society, serving as a tutor all three of her years at BA. Her academic excellence was rewarded as she was named National Merit Finalist. A member of the Math Club, Laura was also active in Mu Alpha Theta and the annual Math Synposium. She was selected as an ROTC sponsor her senior year, and she also participated as a two-year member in Synch'r Swim. The el Conquistador is very proud to salute a student as deserving as Laura Smith.

Talent in the fields of speech and mathematics made George Tarpley's contributions to BA valuable and diversified. As secretary of National Forensic League, he accepted many responsibilities adding to the success of this organization. Working as assistant director of BA's annual speech tournament. George fulfilled obligations and contributed hours by the hundreds. The entire debate division of the tournament was under his authority. In addition to his great show of dependability, George did an outstanding job himself in tournament competition. By the end of only his second year on the debate squad, he had either placed or reached the finals in five tournaments

George's academic ability was as outstanding as his ability in debate. An honors math student, he carried his achievements beyond his superior classroom performance and learned to use the computer with dexterity. He was also a member of the Math Club and Mu Alpha Theta, Because George's performance in other subjects matched this mathematical superiority, he was a two-year member of National Honor Society. The el Conquistador is proud to salute George Tarpley for the sense of responsibility with which he approached all of his endeavors

George Tarpley

Worthy BA Students Receive Salutes

Mike Stevener

One of those people to whom others automatically turned for leadership, Mike Stevener was consistently at the center of Bryan Adams life. In keeping with his undying spirit and dedication, Mike saw to it that everything around him was successful.

As a result of his perfectly balanced combination of a sense of humor and a sense of responsibility, Mike was elected head cheerleader. The year's pep assemblies were made unique by his soul-socking chants of "Rock and Roll" and "Groovy, groovy, groovy" and his ever-famous impersonation of Professor Ricky Ticky Timble. Devoting long hours and lasting spirit to school memories, Mike served as sports editor of the el Conquistador. He was President of Quill and Scroll, chairman of the All Night Party Committee, and a member of the Pub staff, senior play, Key Club, and National Honor Society. In all of these activities, his fellow workers vouched for the fact that "things just weren't the same when Mike wasn't there." The el Conquistador is proud to salute Mike Stevener.

Shannon's interests and abilities extended beyond her newspaper work. As two-year co-captain of Synch'r Swim, the district's first synchronized swim team, Shannon spent at least one night a week working with the organization. She was a member of Cothurnus Club, Spanish Club, and Senior Council. Her journalistic abilities appeared again as she worked as a humor committee chairman on the Senior Pub and as a Vice-President of Quill and Scroll. Because of her numerous contributions to Bryan Adams, the el Conquistador is pleased to recognize Shannon McCullar.

Students' Vacation Extends Fourteen Extra Fun Days

With the changing of the Dallas Independent School District, the opening of school was delayed two weeks. But that did not mean the teachers' vacation extended fourteen days. They worked from dawn till dusk planning a successful 1971-72 school year.

As usual, Bevan Adams started off a crowded disaster. Desegregation brought about new ideas. A "buddy system" matched an experienced senior to a new student enrolling at BA, This helped make new students feel they belonged to Bryan Adams. The IBM machines programmed 3,300 schedules. Counselors worked twenty four hours a day to get students in the proper classes. Even though a few new problems arose, everything worked out in due time. Student and teacher enthusiasm, courage, and pride helped promote a better beginning of school.

Cougars Head 'Em Up, Move 'Em Out for San Angelo

Excitement filled the air as Bryan Adams made the annual journey to battle the San Angelo Bobeats. The game took place on Friday, September 10. Fifteen buses made the trip while long strings of private cars traded behind. All students riding the buses were dismissed from their afternoon classes.

After five hours of travel, Cougar fans arrived in the stadium, full of vitality and ready for an exciting game. The Cougar team exhibited boundless energy as the game progressed. Cheers echoed from the stands at half-time when the Belles, band, and majorettes performed with perfection. Spirit intensified in the closing minutes of the game when the Cougars posed a threat to San Angelo's lead. When the final gun sounded, the Boleats emerged victorious. Exhausted Cougar fans then started on the long journey home.

NFL Talent Show Features Sock Hop

The annual National Forensic League Talent Show, "The Rock Revolution," traced the life of teenagers from the days of bee-bop and sock hops to acid rock. Music from the Beatles and Elvis Presley to soul and folk echoed through the auditorium in the two school assemblics and one night performance.

Participants in the show endured long hours of preparation and practice to insure the success of the production

In her first year to teach at Bryan Adams, Mrs. Patty Edwards, speech teach er, proved herself to be a competent and brilliant organizer of entertainment by sponsoring the performances

The funds raised by the production helped to pay for entries into speech tournaments throughout the year and other National Forensic League functions

Spirit Inspires Students' Common Goal

A never ending spirit was expressed by Bryan Adams students during the school year. Spirit was sparked by participation in pep assemblies and extended to bettering the school and surrounding community

Car and door decorating contests created spirit during the football season Every week the building was decorated and spirit ribbons were worn, thus encouraging the team to victory. Car caravans organized by the cheerleaders helped boost spirit before the games. In order to promote spirit in the homecoming assembly, a group of senior boys, the "Cougar Claws," was formed

As the holiday seasons approached, various organizations held parties to celebrate. Halloween, Christmas, and Easter parties helped make the holiday spirit more exciting

A spirit of unity was displayed by all students throughout the year. The Buddy System and Tutoring program helped the school become more unified. Volunteer students in these programs helped other students having problems feel more confident and comfortable in the school

Homecoming Highlights Fall Student Activities

Peak of the football season, highlight of fall activities, and reunion of old acquaintances — Homecoming '71, Weeks in advance, Bryan Adams faculty and student body prepared for the annual event.

The Student Council changed the traditional homecoming, adding originality. Giving the dance the name "Kaleidescope," the council hoped for a successful attendance. Even the long established process of choosing a homecoming queen changed. This year the student council decided to choose the candidates in an open meeting, thereby hoping to eliminate careless nominations. After student voting and endless counting, Janice Grammer became Homecoming Queen for 1971. The first pep assembly on November 12, 1971 provided the most spirit all year long. For this rally, senior boys organized a new group called "Cougar Claws" to promote extra spirit. Also, senior two-year Belles performed for a last time. This enthusiasm led the Cougars to a victory over the Spartans.

Clay, Nieto, Matlack Gain Applause From Plays

' Durber Carnival," "You, the Jury," and "Anybody for Tea" comprised the Cothurnus Club's 1971 production of Variety Theatre. The performances were given on November 18, 19, and 20

Skits similar to television's "Laugh-In" composed 'Thurber Carmval." Directed by Mrs. Grace Clay, the show featured skits from a modern-day version of "Little Red Riding Hood" to "The Unicorn."

The trial of a young student accused of stealing a huge amount of money set the scene for "You, the Jury," A verdict was determined each night by a jury selected from the audience. This one-act play was directed by Mr. Kirby Matlack.

"Anybody for Tea" centered around six old women who tried to attract the attention of the man across the street, a homicide detertive. To do this they murdered one of their number. Mrs. Anne Nieto directed this murder mystery

Sock Hop Revives Memories of Forties

When was the last time you danced the jutterbug? Perhaps it was at the First Annual Annual Sock Hop, sponsored by the el Conquistador Staff. The sounds of today and the bee-bop music of yesterday came together in a rejuvenation of the forties and the fifties on January 21, at 8:00 P.M. in the Girls Gym. Atoka, led by Alan Hunter, provided the music for the dance

The Andrew Sisters, one of the old time favorite singing groups, were impersonated by seniors Dori Hodges, Cheryl Claiborne, and Laurie Musgrove

Seniors Carol Crabtree and John Paul Jackson won free annuals for their out standing efforts in the old-fashioned jitterbug contest. Free annuals were also given to Casey Chandler, senior, and Osbert Lassberg, junior, voted as having the most effective costumes.

The evening was highlighted by the announcement of the sophomore, junior, and senior personalities.

Debate, Judge, Trophies Equal Speech Tournament

Unfamiliar voices presenting speeches, dramatic interpretation, duet acting, and debates were heard throughout the school during the 1972 Bryan Adams Speech Tournament. Students who participated arrived in buses and cars February 4 and 5 for the annual event.

Long hours of complicated and detailed work went into the preparation for the tournament which is one of the largest in Texas. As usual, the National Forensic League sponsored the competition.

Participants in the tournament included students from various high schools in Texas. Oklahoma, and Louisiana.

All afternoon classes listened to the contestants while teachers judged. Many Bryan Adams students volunteered and served as hostesses and timekeepers.

The sweepstakes trophy was given to Springwood High School from Houston, Texas, for collecting the most points in the tournament.

ROTC Cadets Attend Highlight of Their Year

A Military Ball is given yearly in honor of the Corps sponsors. Long hours of detailed work went into the decorations and preparations to make this year's event an overwhelming success. Fancy hairstyles and starched uniforms set the stage for Saturday night, February 26.

Crowning of the new queen, Miss Ree Nelson, highlighted the evening. Ree was nominated by the Corps Drill Team. All the girls nominated for queen were sponsors for one of the companies. After the names were placed on the ballot, all R.O.T.C. members voted

Many distinguished military guests attended this year's ball. Following tradition, Major General and Mrs. Harley B. West were present at the annual event. The Grand March, when the cadets and their dates marched around the lunch room, and the Queen's Honor Guard added to the annual festivities.

Cougar Varsity Boasts Winning Season

Cougar football 1971 proved to be an exciting season for Bryan Adams. The team began with a slow start and was defeated in an important game with White early in the season. Suddenly, BA smothered the state cricked Cors can a Tigers in an upset victory, and the rest of the year was a "whole new ball game." A massive offensive attack was established that was feared throughout the district A ringged offensive effect into a impregnable out. Suddently, visions of a district rown dancer in the heads of the Congars. However, BA's hopes were shattered in the unforgettable defeat in unst Thomas beforeour The team ended the season with a fine 6-4 record. In addition to the many fond football highlights, this eventful season was remembered for the resignation of 15-year head coach Bob Cowsar from his important post. In his successful career at Bryan Adams, the initiationing orich led the Congars to 101 wins, 48 losses, 5 ties, No doubt, 1971 was a "special" season.

Bobcats Pounce Cougars in Opener

San Angelo Bobcats always provide plenty of action for the Cougars, and this season was no exception. Both teams had high rankings in their district and the game was to be a "thriller." The Bobcats pounced to an early lead in the first quarter with two quick touchdowns. The "Mean Green" surged back with a Matthew Blacksher 39-yard pass to Bill Holland and a 1-yard push by Ronnie Johnston to take a 13-12 halftime lead.

The lead changed quickly as the Bobcats jumped through the Cougar defense for two touchdowns. Late in the fourth quarter, Quency Hill connected with Mark Crouch for a beautiful 83-yard pass play and a Cougar touchdown. Bryan Adams fought to the end as the Cougars drove to the Bobcat 13 yard line, only to be stopped by time and misfortune. To insure a victory, San Angelo gave up 2 points on a safety. The Cougar team trudged off the field after a 25-22 defeat, as the "spirited" BA fans returned to the buses and motels proud of the Green and White.

Garland Owls Prey on Cougar Mistakes

Garland gathered enough points to secure a 28-13 victory in a rather dull, life less game. The first-half battle was strickly defensive as the offenses of both teams sputtered through the first two quarters. The Owls finally passed for a touchdown late in the 2nd quarter, but the Green and White were still very much in the ballgame

In the third period, BA quarterback Quency Hill dove for the first Cougar score after a Garland fumble. The Owls crossed the goal line again for another TD, and Garland dominated the rest of the game. The final BA touchdown evolved from another Owl fumble recovered by David Floyd on Garland's eight yard line. Glenn Heckman spiraled a toss to John Wheeler for the Green and White's only other TD. The long awaited gun blasted to close the non-district game with a 28-13 Garland victory.

Longhorns Deal Cougars Crushing Blow

The night's weather predicted the game's final outcome . . . "horrible." BA and White clashed in a heated battle at Loos Stadium for the first district game. White grabbed an early lead in the first period, but a Longhorn fumbled punt allowed the Mean Green to maneuver to the White 24 vard line for a Larry Whatley 3-point field goal. The mighty Congar offense continued to produce as quarterback ace Quency Hill passed his way to the White 5 yard line. From there, Hill found receiver Rusty Allen alone for BA's only TD and a half-time lead. In the second half, a sputtering offense, some defensive mistakes, and just plain had linek caused the Congars to how to an unbeaten Longhorn team. The important district battle ended with a 20-10 White victory.

Cougars Surprise Tigers in Cotton Bowl

It was "cotton picking time" in the Cotton Bowl, BA finally put it all together in the famous stadium against a highly favored, undefeated Corsicana team with a score of 28-6. Spirit prevailed all week as a large crowd rooted the mighty Cougars to their first victory.

Bryan Adams showed complete supremacy throughout the battle. Glenn Heckman guided a massive Cougar ground attack for 276 yards. Heckman gave most of the credit to an outstanding offensive line of Brad Lowe, Jay Scoggins, Kim Scott, and Dan Wilder. Scoring for BA were Mark Crouch, Ronnie Johnston, Robert Sherman, and defensive back Mike Coleman on an interception. The Mean Green's defensive eleven continually demolished Tiger scoring attacks to conquer the Corsicana cause. The 28-6 upset Cougar victory over Corsicana gave a feeling that the season had "only just begun."

Bryan Adams Massacres Apaches in District Win

Bryan Adams rolled over the Spruce Apaches with an easy victory of 30-14. The Cougar offense roamed at will through the Spruce defense. Kicker Larry Whatley started the point explosion with a 31 yard field goal. John Illoa, who carned the defensive player-of the-week award, packed up an Apache fumble and skipped to the Sprine end zone for another 6 points. Ronnie Johnston, who rambled for 92 yards in 15 carries for the evening, ran for one touchdown to make the score 17-0. Bryan Adams charged for 2 more touchdowns by running-backs Mark Crouch and Bruce Hampton. The BA defense brought terror to the Apaches as the Cougars amoushed the Spruce offense throughout the game. Spruce that not even gain a first down until BA substituted in the third quarter. The final gain sounded with a 30-14 win for the Big Green.

Skyline Falls to Cougars in First Showdown, 20-3

On their first meeting at an athletic event, Bryan Adams crumbled all Skyline's dreams of a Raider victory. The already rival teams were both anxious to win the important game.

BA gained control of the game quickly as Mark Crouch sped for 10 yards across the Raider goal. Skyline managed a field goal, but the Cougars possessed a halftime lead of 14-3, after another Crouch score and two Whatley points after touchdowns.

Once again, the Bryan Adams ablesome running attack knocked through a defense, as the Cougars controlled the inexperience of the Skyline defense. Quarterback Glen Heckman dove two vards for the final score. The 20-3 victory gave BA the first win in the initial battle against an already rival team, the Skyline raiders

Cougars Pounce on Lincoln Tigers, 24-6

Bryan Adams trampled Lincoln's Tigers in an action-packed game by a score of 24-6. Completely dominating the game, BA's mighty offense rushed for 234 yards and completed 7 of 12 passes for 180 yards. With only 2.36 gone in the first quarter, Mark Crouch carried the ball for 13 yards to score, and Larry Whatley booted the conversion. Moments later, Quency Hill connected with Crouch on a 29-yard pass to score. A 25-yard punt return by Mark Guy set up a 26-yard Whatley field goal.

Bryan Adam's final score came on a 27-yard pass to Bill Holland which capped a 90-yard drive in three plays. BA's powerful defense stopped Lincoln at the Cougar 1, 23, 25, and 7 yard lines before allowing a score with 1:03 left in the game. Thus, the Mean Green had another victory

Bryan Adams Climbs Over Hillcrest

In the second half, Cougar aerial attack provided points with a 37-yard pass from Matthew Blacksher to Bill Holland and a 10-yard pass from Quency Hill to Holland for the TD. BA defense was definitely outstanding as the Green Machine grabbed fumbles, stole passes, and halted Hillerest on a tremendous goal line stand. Rusty Allen and Mike Coleman intercepted a total of seven enemy passes as Coleman streaked one back 17 yards for another touchdown. Crouch added the final points as he sped off right tackle 30 yards to the goal line. "Golden Toe" Whatley but three of four extra points as the game ended with a Cougar advantage of 27-7.

Cougars Lose Hopes in Rebel Victory

BA's entire season hinged on this one game. In order to stay in the title race. BA had to heat the undefeated Rebels of Thomas Jefferson.

BA jumped off to a quick fourteen point lead with a 45 yard pass from quarterback are Quency Hill to tight end Bill Holland and a 30 yard dash by defensive star John Illoa who scooped up a TJ fumble. Larry Whatley added 2 important PAT's, but the Rebels were not to be denied in the first half as they scored two touchdowns. However, Kim Scott blocked an extra point and smashed a two point conversion attempt to hold the Rebels to 12 points.

The second half found BA behind after TJ returned a kickoff all the way "home," A BA fumble on TJ's three yard line started the Rebels drive for a field goal. Determined and undaunted, the Mean Green marched 66 yards with "Hoss" Johnston crunching through for the final 23 yards. Hill tossed to Robert Sherman for a successful two point play. With a 22-21 lead, the game's outcome rested on the BA defensive 11 who had since established themselves as a group of superb talent, skill, and effectiveness. Then it came. On a fourth and 9 situation, TJ lofted a desperation pass to the Coug riend zone. Unbelievably the pass was caught, and victory belonged to Thomas Jefferson.

The Green and White team and spectators alike trudged slowly off Forester Field with undeserved feelings of emptiness inside. The score was 28-22, the season's hopes were lost.

Victory Over Samuell Closes Season

The Green and White defense controlled Samuell almost effortlessly as the Spartans were held to a minus 53 yards on the ground. The awesome 11 joited the Spartans for four interceptions, two fumbles, and a safety. The 34-0 victory was fun for the Cougar team and spectators thice. BA's JV, B Team — Hope of the Future

Before playing on the Bryan Adams Varsity football team, a boy first had to show his desire, talent, and ability. Players were given an opportunity to prove themselves on the B team as sophomores. Then, as juniors, the boys played on the Junior Varsity team. On the way, the athletes were able to become more familiar with Cougar football and earn their place on the "Big Green" varsity Each year the teams made several cuts to keep only the best players.

The B team, led by Coach Frank Davis, finished their season with a 3-4-1 record. The Junior Varsity, under Coach Dolph Regelsky, prepared for their senior year by having a 4-4 season record. The talent within these two teams was sure to come out in future years.

Season Spoils for Varsity Basketball

Basketball for Bryan Adams in 1972 found a young team scattered with experience in only a few positions. Few seniors played for the Mean Green during the season games throughout the long winter season. Coaches Ralph Zeitz and Larry Covin directed the team's strenuous daily workouts. Pre-scason games fore-shadowed the season as the Cougars failed to win a battle in several efforts,

But, determination and team play caused BA to fight their way through tough opponents to the consolation bracket championship of the Dr. Pepper Tournament during the Christmas season, Jumor Mark Guy was honored as a member of the All-Fournament Team.

Season play proved to be disappointing, however, as the team lost many close games and closed with a losing record. The roundballers displayed the Cougar spirit and pride, though, as they defeated Samuell in an exciting final game of the year.

JV, B Team Basketball Plan for Future Years

Sophomores and juniors who wish to play on the Varsity Basketball team must first gain experience on the "B" and JV teams. Through long workouts every day, the boys prepare themselves for the Varsity positions they seek. Though not as highly recognized as they should be, the teams, by determination and spirit, showed promise of future greatness as their season progressed.

The JV players demonstrated personal ability far beyond what their team record shows. With this year of experience, the future looks bright for BA.

The "B" team, under their new coach, Coach Warner, had an outstanding 1971-1972 season. Their spirit, determination, and talent formed a winning combination as their team records shows. The "B" teamers progressed to the city finals only to be defeated in a good, hard-fought game.

Cougar Swimmers Race to Victory

The terms "work, pain, agony" became very familiar to the Bryan Adams swimmers under the guidance of Coach Austrum "Zeke" Zidermanis. As a result of their strengous two-aday workouts of 10,000 yards, the swimmers showed true championship ability during their outstanding 1971-1972 swimming season. As a reward for their efforts, the team won many top honors in their region

The boys' team was led by captains Mike Hartwig and Cass Ragan. Cathy Boyle and Judy Dilling headed the girls' team. These captains led the tankers to victory by setting outstanding examples for the others.

Spring Proves BA Tennis Outstanding

BA tennis players once again enjoyed a successful season for Bryan Adams. Those gifted with coordination, quickness, and skill on the asphalt court came together to give Bryan Adams a tennis team that was respected throughout the district. After school hours found the dedicated team members poushing back hand swings, forearm smashes, and deadly serves.

The squad consisted of a balanced attack of semors, juniors, and sophomores. Wayne Scott coached fall practice, and Perry Berbs sponsored the train through their spring matches. The boys' singles and doubles moded themselves into championship quality and superb effectiveness. The garls' team showed their ability against area school opponents also. Matches started in February and were often played at Tentuson Grand. Spring found BA retters swinging their way through another victorious year.

Cougar "Birdies" Swing Through Year

Future Jack Nicklauses, Lee Trevinos, and Arme Palmers stalked the fairways and greens of Tennison Grand after a small white ball every spring afternoon. Golf is a game of constant dedication and attention, and the BA team members fulfilled this obligation wholeheartedly. Bryan Adams has constantly boasted a fine squad under the direction of Coach Herb Best, and this past season was no exception. A new coach, Coach Yawley, perfected the squad's basic techniques of the sport. BA "duffers" rushed every afternoon to complete several holes for the important practice every golfer needs. Senior golfers led a rather young team through the tournaments throughout the spring. Area high schools served as season opponents for the Cougar duffers. Birdies, eagles and pars flourished as those who qualified represented the Cougars honorably in the various matches.

Cougar Tracksters Set Pace in Season Meets

Track is a sport that entails physical excellence and endurance in a certain athletic event. The Cougar cindermen had "what it takes" during the past season. Tracksters practiced daily after school under the guidance of Coach Frank Davis to achieve in the various events such as 100, 220, 440, and 880 yd. sprints. Mile sprint relay, mile relay, hurdles, pole vault, high jump, shot put, and discus. Forester Field offered itself as a place for many of the team's practices. The track team consisted of mostly underclassmen, with only Rusty Allen and Kim Scott returning as lettermen. Captains Rusty Allen and Murray Durant led the athletes through the spring track meets which showed Bryan Adams to be superior in several fields of events. Individuals' efforts made up the track team that combined to achieve team victories.

"Heads Up" Cougars Play BA Baseball

The 1972 season proved to be exciting for the Bryan Adams Cougars. Returning from the extremely successful 1971 season under Coach Dolph Regelsky were lettermen Quency Hill, Ricky Bass, Robert Sherman, and Gene Duckworth to form the nucleus of the team. With these and other talented players, the team became a highly tuned machine, respected by their opponents. Double plays and trap plays abounded as opponents failed to penetrate the feared fielding of the Bryan Adams team. Strong hitting was one necessary ingredient that helped produce the Cougar winning season.

Captains Quency Hill and Gene Duckworth worked together as fine examples to encourage their teammates to give their "all." As the season progressed the competition stiffened, but so did the resistance put up by the Cougars. This and darly afternoon workouts combined to achieve success and demonstrate the team's true qualities in the great American pasttime throughout the season.

Student Council Members Work for Better School

One of the most active organizations at Bryan Adams, the Student Council made several changes in the school this year. Representatives from each home room met every other Tuesday morning with the officers to discuss school problems.

During the summer, the council conducted a three-day summer workshop. They began the school year with the traditional Sophomore Day welcome. Profits from the Homecoming Dance added to the treasury, while the change of pace that the dance brought was appreciated by students. Council members made changes in the school constitution during January. Compiling the student directory, which was published and sold to students in December, was another contribution the council made to the school.

With guidance from the sponsor, Mr. Jerry Clay, Sandra Harrington as president and J. V. Cossaboom as vice-president led the group through a great year,

Bryan Adams Spirits Fill Stadium With Enthusiasm

Old and new tradition created excitement in Congarland, and amid these traditions, the Bryan Adams Spirits remained outstanding. During each assembly and every game, the club assembled, and the numerous rows of auditorium seats or stadium bleachers became a sea of green and white. Amid the traditions, changes in sponsorship, officers' uniforms, and the system of demerits were prevalent.

In addition to the presence of the Spirits at games with their card tricks and hand routines, evidence of their spirit prevailed on game days. The halls became colorfully transformed aimid the realms of green and white streamers, posters, and cougar paws.

Creativity and Uniqueness Exhibited by Cheerleaders

"Groovy, groovy, groovy, tough, tough, . . . " was a perfect description of the 71-72 Bryan Adams cheerleaders. Leading the entire student body in chants, cheers, and songs, the cheerleaders had an exciting year. They captured the Spark Plug, an award to one of the top two squads at SMU Cheerleader School, and regained the Spirit Stick for the third year.

Excitement reigned as the cheerleaders went into the spotlight when a national magazine did a feature on them. Their ability in stunts and creativity made the year unique. For the first time, pep assembly skits included members of the student body. To promote more spirit among the student body, the cheerleaders created the Cougar Claws, a spirit group for senior boys. "Knee Post Position! Don't move! Let's do it right this time!" With these commands, the Bryan Adams Marching Band kicked off its 1971-72 season with halftime activities in the Astrodome. They went on to create colorful halftime shows in the Cotton Bowl and Sugar Bowl. With 192 members, the "Big Brass Band" executed these polished performances only after long, hard hours of practice.

Under the direction of William Lively, the "Cougar Band" presented an open air concert for the Mayor of New Orleans in Jackson Square. The offers that they accepted to perform were only a few of the ones they received. The ten shows performed in the last two years earned them the title of "The Most Televised Band In The Land."

Casey Chandler, Ludene Hoffman, Jeannie Dunaway, and Quay O'Hara twirled their way into a million hearts this year. They appeared live for over an estimated 460,000 people and on nationwide television for over 160 million viewers during the past two years, performing with the band at Cotton Bowl, Astrodome, and Sugar Bowl presentations.

Patty Juno began a new tradition at BA this year. She became the Cougarette, or feature twirler. Her outstanding ability as a majorette brought her this special title. Recognized as one of the best high school twirlers anywhere. Patty wore a uniform similar to the majorettes' as she went through the intricate steps of her own routines.

The majorettes received many honors and awards at Kilgore Junior College where they attended camp during the summer. They also received several awards from the U. I. L. (University Interscholastic League). The BA twirlers were sponsored by Mr. William Lively, and Casey Chandler was head majorette.

BA Chapter Ranks High in National Forensic League

NFL — What does the National Football League have to do with BA? Nothing, However, the award-winning Bryan Adams chapter of the NFL, National Forensic League, remained one of the most outstanding organizations in the school. The NFL brought recognition and honor to BA by its superior performances in lifteen speech tournaments throughout the Texas, Oklahoma, and Louisiana are a this year. In addition, seven seniors with distinguished achievement in the NFL were chosen to travel to Los Angeles, California, to participate in a speech tournament at the University of Southern California.

By competition in the areas of debate, duet acting, extemporaneous speaking, original oratory, and interpretation of prose, poetry, and drama, the NFL encouraged the development of good public speaking, organized thought, and good sportsmanship.

As with all other organizations, fund-raising was an important concern. Proceeds from the annual NFL Talent Show and the BA Spring Speech Tournament provided the money needed for club expenditures.

BA Skaters Form Close Relationships With Ice

"Oops! There goes another one!" could have been the slogan for this year's lee Skating Club as members slipped, flopped, and sometimes skated through a hilarious year. Twice a month, experienced skaters and novices alike joined together for an hour of fun at the Fair Park Ice Arena.

Although the Ice Skating Club was not formed for the purpose of skating instruction, beginners received assistance in learning the basic skills involved in the sport: remaining on one's feet, gliding gracefully, and falling properly if one was unable to stand and glide. By the end of the year, everyone mastered the art of falling, and some members learned to skate.

Club members had the opportunity to see how it's really done when they attended the Ice Capades. Those interested in the excitement of professional hockey welcomed a trip to a Dallas Blackhawk hockey game in March

Spring Brings NHS to Autumn Leaves

Great success marked the efforts of the National Honor Society again this year. Mrs. Lafferty, the sponsor, said that school service was the club's first concern as NHS members organized and hosted College Night for prospective college students. The tutoring program, another activity sponsored by the NHS, continued this year under the supervision of Mrs. Evelyn Haraway.

Providing a change of pace for entertainment, the National Honor Society sponsored a money-making project in the form of a film "The Stalking Moon," for Brvan Adams students. As a pleasure activity, members of NHS attended the Country Dinner Playhouse performance of "Forty Carats" on January 23. April 23 marked the date for the show given by NHS members for residents at the Autumn Leaves rest home.

Bryan Adams' Archers "Shoot High" in Goals

"Keep your morals as straight as your arrow." This was one of the guidelines from the Archer's Bible that was important to the Bryan Adams Archery Club.

Beginning three years ago, the archery club was the only existing club of its kind in the entire Dallas Independent School District, President Kent Raley and the other officers were charter members of the club.

The main deducation of this organization was to further the sport of archery and to develop sportsmanship and fair play among the members. Archers met at Eastfield archery range where they learned how to use their equipment safely. New and old members alike competed against each other, and each semester awards were given.

Campus Life Sees Youth Living Christian Lives

Monday night meetings of Campus Life brought a group of about thirty students of all faiths and denominations together for an hour of fun and fellowship. Campus Life, the high school division of the International Youth for Christ movement, had a division at Bryan Adams for the first time this year.

Games were played at the beginning of meetings to maintain order and break up any cliques. After everyone relaxed, the members discussed subjects relevant to today's youth. Topics such as suicide, runaways, and premarital sex were discussed, and the opinion of each person was important.

During the Christmas holidays, members went to Brownsville and enjoyed themselves. In February, they met with other Dallas Campus Life groups for games, competitions, and fellowship.

Pride, Leadership Typify "Key" Boys

"We build" is the motto of Key Club International, and the Bryan Adams Key Club lived up to this slogan during the past year. Under the sponsorship of the White Rock Kiwanis Club, the sixty-five member boys' service organization strove toward the promotion of citizenship and fellowship within the school and community. School spirit and the spirit of youth was also represented by Key Club members.

In the fall, the buildings and grounds of Angels Incorporated received the massive cleaning and reorganization which has become a traditional service of the Bryan Adams Key Club. Another traditional project to which the Key Club members devoted their time and effort was the collection of donations to the March of Dimes. The boys also worked with the Student Council in a project to aid flood victims in the Valley. School pride prompted the Key Club members to plant twenty-five trees on the Bryan Adams school grounds. Behind-the-scenes work by the Key Club at the annual Kiwanis Show was greatly appreciated, and contributed in a big way to the success of this year's program.

Concert Choir Presents Programs and Musical

Interested in music and singing? The answer might be Concert Choir. This year's choir, like their predecessors, was involved in many activities throughout the year. Ensemble group comprised of Concert Choir members participated in singing contests and brought many honors to Bryan Adams.

Shoppers listened to traditional and classical songs presented by the Concert Choir at Town East and Northpark during the Christmas holidays. Also, students of Hill and Gaston Junior High, as prospective members of Concert Choir, became acquainted with the club through assemblies at their respective schools.

With the coming of spring, the Concert Choir, in co-operation with the drama department, presented the musical "Anything Goes." With Mr. Colton Erwin and the coordination of ideas, the music department acquired a rewarding year.

Science Club Members Push Forward

Kicking off its new year in September, the Bryan Adams 1971-72 Science Club was full of plans for the coming year. The Science Club, sponsored by Mr. Perry Berns, prided itself on the wide variety of subjects covered in the bi-weekly meetings. Guests from all fields and branches of science related subjects came to the meetings and stacks on various tank.

to the meetings and spoke on various topics.

President Leslie Prater and Vice-President Gary Haschke with help from Mr. Berns, planned field trips to A&M University, Southwestern Bell, SMU, and other places in the surrounding area. Cindy Corliss, secretary, and Cindy McBride, treasurer, also kept pace by making plans for the Bryan Adams Science Symposium. Approximately 30 speakers from all over the country and students from 100 school districts other than Dallas were present for the annual event.

Science Club members, during the course of the year, had several bake sales and other fund raising projects. One of the most outstanding projects was presented to Bryan Adams teachers in early October. Insurance Policies were offered by the Science Club for 50°. The policies stated that if the teachers houses were rolled, club members were responsible for the clean-up. However, if such vandals did not appear on Halloween, the 50° was forfeited to the treasurer's box of the Science Club.

Library Council Opens Door to Learning

Members of the Bryan Adams Library Council benefitted greatly from their year of work in the Library. Donating one study hall a day, students learned the basic functions of our library. Checking books in and out, filing cards, and helping students locate books were a few of their duties.

Mrs. Brown, the new sponsor of the club, kept things running smoothly with the help of the officers. Michelle Williams served as president and Suzanne Coker as vice-president. Monetary matters were handled by Robert Kotas, treasurer, while Debbie Chambers managed secretarial matters.

The eighteen members of the Library Council worked hard to keep the library servicing properly throughout the year. Students appreciated their endeavors to keep the library a quiet place for research, study, and reading

Art-In-Action Bridges Creativity Gap

Talent and an appreciation of art provided common interests for members of the Art-In-Action Club this year. Meeting every two weeks, club members learned new techniques and skills in art and various crafts from speakers and demonstrations and had the opportunity to practice what they learned. Field trips to museums and art shows promoted knowledge of traditional and contemporary art forms.

Throughout the year, Art-In-Action Club members donated their time and talent to the school's drama department by helping to paint stage flats and props for the many dramatic productions at BA. The club also contributed hand-made gifts and toys to needy children at Christmas. Original creations by Bryan Adams students were sold at an art sale which the Club sponsored in the spring.

TSC Posters Urge Good Driving Habits

As one of their projects this year, the Bryan Adams Traffic Safety Conference made posters promoting traffic safety. Cindy Lienhart, president, worked with Mrs. Knucktes, sponsor, and other members to investigate some of the traffic problems in the community. Members were concerned with the high accident rate and tried to involve other students in their organization.

In November, nine members and their sponsor attended and participated in the Teen Court. They were allowed to act as judge, prosecuting attorney, and jury.

In January, members attended Teen Court to hear "teen" traffic tickets.

Members were involved in several community projects, including helping the Red Cross fill Christmas stockings for hospital patients in the the Veterans Administration Hospital, Terrell State Home and the County Home for the Aged.

Projectionists Aid Teachers With Films

At Bryan Adams this year, a group of girls spent one study hall each day helping both teachers and students through the world of films. Mr. Berns, the projectionists' sponsor, described them as "a spirited bunch of girls." By performing their tasks, the girls did their part to further the education of BA students.

Aside from the actual running of the projectors, the projectionists did many jobs. They spliced broken film, maintained the Pixmobile units, and saw that films were in the right place at the right time for viewing or pick-up.

Films students viewed with the help of the projectionists gave them a better understanding of subject matter. Supplementing textbook material and teachers' lectures, visual aids were appreciated by both teachers and students as a welcome change of pace

Logic's the Name, Chess Is the Game

Kings, Queens, Rooks, Bishops, Knights, and Pawns! These pieces start off the fascinating game of chess. The main object of playing chess is to force the surrender of the opposing man's king.

"Chess is a good game that teaches people logic," Mr. Hunter, sponsor of the Chess Club said. The club began the year with this thought in mind. Meetings were needed weekly to polish the members games and to teach beginners the rules and strategy of chess.

Led by President Tim Walvoord, the Chess Club members participated in several regional meets and attended the state tournament in San Antonio. Members played Chess with the sponsor, against other chess mates, and against other schools.

Sync'r Swimmers Form First Dallas Team

Bryan Adams scored another first in the school district when its synchronized swim team was born. "Sync'r Swim," or the Marlinas, jumped to an exciting start in the fall of 1970 with performances at White Rock Pool and the dedication of Loos Swimming Pool.

Led by captain Patti Badgett and sponsored by Mrs. Pat Osborne, the Marlinas met every Thursday night to work on stunts and prepare for shows. During only the second year of the club's existence, the Marlinas gained P.E. credit for their swimming, presented a January show, and proved their ability by appearing on a Channel 13 television feature.

Math, Journalism, Drama Societies Honor Students

Bryan Adams had three chapters of bonorary societies: Thespians, Mu Alpha Theta, and Quill and Scroll. Though inactive in most cases, these societies provided a person with the honor of being a member

Late "behind the scenes" work as well as on-stage performances enabled Cothurnus Club members to earn valued points to become a Thespian. The required number of points was ten, and students worked diligently toward this goal by participating as actors, in stage production, in directing, and in other various areas of drama.

Understanding math techniques and a "B" average were required to become a member of Mu Alpha Theta Outstanding journalists from the Cougar Crossroads, and the El Conquistador staff who maintained a high average comprised Quill and Scroll.

FHA Teaches Valuable Domestic Skills

With many new ideas and a brand new approach to the club, the BA chapter of the Future Homemakers of America began the 71-72 school year. The schedule of meetings was changed this year to enable more girls to participate in the Future Homemakers program. Instead of holding after school sessions, the girls met each day during their regular homemaking classes, carrying out FHA projects in addition to classwork.

Through interesting and informative programs, FHA members came to appreciate the joys of homemaking. The girls learned many valuable domestic skills. The incorporation of family and career became a topic of discussion, and representatives from many companies discussed with the Future Homemakers the jobs and careers that are open to women

In addition to in-class programs, FHA members performed outside service projects. During the holidays the girls packed food baskets for the poor, Several members were selected to provide Christmas entertainment and homemade treats for residents of an old-folks home. All of the Future Homemakers observed National FHA Week in March. Each one made a special point of doing something nice for certain people cach day, furthering the FHA goal of improving personal, family, and community life throughout the year.

Math Club Sponsors The Symposium in February

To encourage interest in math and to provide recreational and social activities was the theme of the Bryan Adams Math Club. Members kept this thought in mind as the year progressed by planning monthly parties with mathematical games and riddles for members who wished to participate.

Student members who wished to qualify for Mu Alpha Theta, the National Honor Math Club, were required to have a B average and meet other qualifications of the club

President Kathy Clemens, Vice-President Joe Pipes, and other members worked diligently to prepare for the Math Symposium, hosted by Bryan Adams on February 19

Professors from various colleges and universities were invited to attend and present different topics in Mathematics.

FTA Learns Basic Aspects of Teaching

Meetings and bowling every other Thorsday in addition to outside activities led to a busy year for the Future Teachers of America. With Miss Cheryl Johnston as sponsor and Debbie Green as president, the group had many accomplishments to show for their active year

At the FTA Convention, Debbie Green placed third in the Miss FTA contest, while Gil Sharp took first place in Mr. FTA. The members of the club took a tour of Skyline Career Development Center in the fall to learn about a unique type of education. During American Education Week, the FTA had a casual breakfast for teachers and sponsored a contest for the Most Outstanding Teacher, which was awarded to Mrs. Patty Edwards

Meetings of the Future Teachers were concerned with making plans for future events and listening to speakers who work in various fields of teaching. Selling stationery to raise funds was another activity in which the group participated

Health Careers — More Than Nursing

An interest in medicine and related fields of work drew twenty students together in the Health Carcers Club this year. By means of educational programs, guest speakers, field trips, and workshops, club members expanded their interest and knowledge in their chosen careers.

Service projects by members of the Health Careers Club brought happiness to many needy people. At Thanksgiving the group packed food baskets for the poor. The club also entertained at the Children's Medical Center at Christmas and aided in the distribution of Red Cross Christmas gifts to the patients at Terrell State Hospital. Club members belied the Easter Seal campaign in a small way by stuffing envelopes.

The year ended with a statewide para-medical meeting held at Galveston in April. The Bryan Adams Health Careers Club sent several delegates to this meeting

YES Students Encounter Christ Daily

Can young people live in today's society and follow the teachings of Christ? Yes! Bryan Adams students proved it through Youth Encounter Seventies (YES), a club involving Christians and non-Christians of all denominations or no denomination who held an interest in religious study and sharing themselves.

Each Monday morning YES members met for a half-hour period of inspiration. Guest speakers related the r religious ideas and experiences to the club members. When no speaker was available, the members themselves were encouraged to give personal testimony. A Bible study course was open to the students involved in YES, and also a five-week training course in Christian witnessing was offered by the Campus Crusade for Christ. On February 29, YES sponsored a short concert by a group called Lost and Found and a film entitled "The Return" concerning the second coming of Christ.

YES encouraged the spirit of Christian fellowship by welcoming all interested students to attend any meeting. Through the leadership of this organization, many BA students joined the growing circle of youth who encounter Christ in their daily lives.

Members of FCA Show 'Fast Break for Christ!'

This was the theme for the project of the year, an eighteen bour marathon baskethall game. It was also typical of the work of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes of 1971-72. FCA confronted athletes and coaches with the challenge and adventure of following Christ and serving Him through their vocation and the fellowship of the church.

Under the leadership of sponsor Don Fergason and President Dan Wilensky, Bry in Adams' chapter of FCA participated in many activities throughout the veur Speakers, such as Jerry Mays, an all-pro defensive back of the Kansas City Chiefs, told about their experiences with Christ. Members of FCA wrote letters to the service men in Vietnam and helped to organize "New Huddle" in another school. All in all, it was a very active year for the Fellowship of Christian Athetres.

Learning and Enjoyment Combine in French Club

Hundreds of irregular verbs, subject and verb agreement, and the correct pronunciation of r's composed the classroom learning of Bryan Adams French students. Outside the classroom, they learned more about the French language at the meetings of "Les Elites," the French Club.

Sponsored by Miss Sue Fincher, the club began its year with a picnic on Flagpole Hill. They held a Halloween and a Christmas party in addition to monthly meetings. At the February meeting, members went ice-skating at Fair Park — "Patmant quelqu'm?"

Speakers highlighted two of the fall meetings. Mrs. Goldstein (Miss Kuntz), who taught French here last year, arrived speaking a continuous flow of French and bringing slides and souveners from her recent trip to France. A native Parisienne attended another meeting and baffled the group with her rapid and fluent speech. Her inability to speak English posed a problem for the members, but Miss Fincher and her trusty "dictionaire" helped the group with the more difficult words.

'Der Deutsch Verein' Learns to Enjoy German

Meetings, parties, bake sales, and a convention made a busy year for German Club members. With Frau Annette Johnson as sponsor, Paul Nierman as President, and Lee Knuth serving as vice-president, the club prospered

"Der Deutsch Verein," the German title of the club, had a Christmas party in December where they strong popeorn and played games. They held bake sales to raise funds and had an ice-skating party the first semester.

Austin was the location of the annual German Convention which members attended on March 16 and 17. There they learned more about the German language and culture. Several members won awards in the competitions they participated in while attending the convention.

Classes with Mrs. Johnson taught the German students the basics of the language. Combining pleasure with learning brought members to a better understanding and appreciation of the German language.

Latin Club Brings Language to Life

Consuls Carolyn Harris and Linda Danie and the Latin Club through a busy year. After the usual playing around and chattering at meetings, members did get around to serious talk about future plans. More importantly, they put these plans into action to make Latin come alive for the members

Through the year, the club participated in many activities, including Hallowcen and Christmas parties. In March they attended a two-day convention in Lubbork, and various members won awards. The banquet held at the end of the year was complete with courses beginning with eggs and ending with apples, as the tradition goes. Members were Roman costumes of togas and sandals to the feast and bargained for slaves.

Spanish Club Brings Joy To Southern Neighbors

Our neighbors to the south became the focus of study for Los Vencedores this year. At monthly meetings, members of the Spanish Club had the opportunity to add to their knowledge of the land and customs of Spanish-speaking people from films and guest speakers.

In addition, many meetings were spent planning service projects. Under the leadership of president Gil Sharp, the club provided Thanksgiving dinner for a Mexican-American family and made Christmas a little bit merrier for the children of Dallas' Benito Juarez Elementary School. For the sixth year the Spanish Club sold candy to raise funds. The money was donated to Pesos for Braces, an organization which provides leg braces for crippled children of Guadalajara. A sum of money was set aside for the purpose of sending Spanish Club members to Mexico for summer study. Other worthy causes also received donations from Los Vene educes.

The highlight of the year was the annual Pan American Student Forum convention held in March. Several club members represented BA in the San Antomio gathering. This active year came to a close with the traditional Spanish Club banquet at El Fenix.

BA Symphony Orchestra Continues '71 Excellence

Pride swelled for the members of the Bryan Adams Orchestra and Mrs. Mar ianne Gabbi when several members of the orchestra took places in the all-region competition at the beginning of the school year. Off to a fresh start, the orchestra began their activities early and entertained the Bryan Adams student body in a Christmas program along with the chorus.

Also, orchestra members began practicing early in the year for the University Interscholastic League competition in April. In the spring, they presented another program for Bryan Adams' students.

Scoring another first for BA, the orchestra made plans to form a vouth orchestra in the vicinity to prepare students for the Bryan Adams Orchestra.

Informality Characterizes Creative Writing Class

Writing about the color blue or a stack of file boxes would be difficult for some students, but not for the members of Mrs. Marvellen Wilbanks' creative writing class. Words, pictures, music, and everyday objects provided spring-boards for imagination to these talented people. More like a club or seminar than a class, the creative writing students met in a relaxed non-classroom atmosphere during seventh period and after school on Mondays and Wednesdays.

An almost unlimited variety of subject matter provided inspiration for all types of prose and poetry. Haiku, free verse, blank verse, descriptions, satures, and short stories were covered this year. Class members learned from one another by constructive criticism of written work, and Mrs. Wilbanks aided her "children" when necessary.

The creative writers entered some of their poems in the Texas Poetry Contest sponsored by the Poetry Society of Texas. Five Bryan Adams seniors won awards for their outstanding entries, and seven other BA students received honorable mention. The students collected and printed their work at the end of the year in an anthology entitled Images

LIFE Leadership Spurs Communication at BA

"Now you're acting like a 9-1 again. You better watch yourself." Such accusations rang through the balls of Bryan Adams after the introduction of a new program called LIFE Louise ship.

Several students in leading positions at BA aftended two-day summer LIFF Labs at Christian College of the Southwest, and there they learned basic characteristics of the effective leader and the efficient group. In January, Bryan Adams hosted one of the Saturday follow-ups to the summer labs.

One day in October, all BA students shuffled and reshuffled into groups of seniors, juniors, and sophomores to undergo their own LIFE Lab. Students took two hours out of classes to discuss ways to better relations between new and old students and faculty members. OEA Learns About Different Aspects of Being a Secretary

Though unknown to many students, the Office Education Association Club was one of the most active clubs at BA. The girls worked in offices, learning the different aspects of being secretaries

Led by President Diane Austin and Sponsor Mrs. Barbara Hazlewood, the OEA Club started their year of activities by taking underprivileged children trick-or-treating on Halloween. At Thanksgiving, the girls helped the Elks' Lodge in collecting food. During the Christmas holidays, the club had a brunch for their parents and for the faculty and sponsored a Christmas party for children in a Dallas orphanage.

The OEA Club ended a successful and active year with the Employer and Employer Banquet held at Riverlake Country Club. Also in the spring the girls at tended the area convention in Dallas and the state convention in Galveston

Cougar Crossroads Staff Alters Style of Newspaper

Using a new name and a fresh approach, the Bryan Adams newspaper staff began its 1971-1972 year. Cougar Chronicle, the old name, was replaced by a new one. Cougar Crossroads became the paper's new title when it was changed from newspaper style to news magizine style. The updated newspaper published this year featured certain current issues as the main topic in each publication.

Shannon McCullar and Gayle Commings as editor and assistant editor guided the stiff in a memorable year with help from the sponsor, Miss Anne Voss. Aside from making layouts and writing stories, the staff worked on other projects. Selfing ads to community businesses and sponsoring the door decorating contest in November were two such activities.

During the year, the paper covered topics from religion and Billy Graham to rock music and school spirit. Working to keep students informed of the many things happening in their school — and in their world — kept everyone on the staff busy

Pub Exposes Seniors at Their Worst

Bryan Adams' humor magazine, the Pub, was written this year by seventy-four competent seniors, with Patti Parker as editor. The Pub revealed the blunders of the Seniors of 72 in its traditional spring publication.

Nine editors and ten humor committee chairmen worked together with their assistants to create a memorable magazine. Patti Parker stated that "Our biggest problem was keeping everything under our hats — keeping seventy-five mouths closed." They obviously succeeded, and the Pub was printed, surprising the sentors with its houtless recordings of embarrassing incidents and its cuts, photographs, and art work

A new Pub suggestion box on the door of room 142 and the circulation of every senior's name to the members insured seniors of seeing their names in print, whether they liked it or not. Mrs. Stanton, the new sponsor, helped the group whenever possible

El C Staff Works for Finale — Scribble Day

Throwing things when headlines failed to fit, screaming at the photographers for pictures, and jumping for joy when a deadline was finally met all characterized the 1971-72 el Conquistador staff. However, amid all this confusion, panic, and frustration, the section editors met their deadlines to create a memorable annual.

Preparation for the annual began last spring when the staffers began to work on the '72 annual and choose new staff members. With summer came many activities, including compilation of the supplement by seniors and a workshop at Midwestern University. When school began, the el C staff began to gather information and pictures for the 400 pages. As the last pages went to the publisher, preparation for the '73 annual began.

Fun, Friends, and Faith Offered by Young Life

Young Life is a nationwide organization for leading non-Christians to Christ. It is non-denominational, and all types of people attend. Fall meetings were held on Tuesday nights, and spring meetings were held on Monday nights in the homes of various members.

Singing was a vital part of the meetings, and Daryla Griser accompanied the songs on her guitar. Occasionally during the year, the group heard guest speakers, and they enjoyed skits performed by members at various times. The adult leaders were Roland and Christine Niednagle and Mary and Ralph LaMont, who were students at the Dallas Seminary School. Brief talks by the leaders and discussions made up the remainder of the meetings.

Combining fun and fellowship with serious discussions and lectures made meetings a vital part of each member's life and gave them spiritual encouragement. Get-togethers on Saturday nights brought the members closer to each other and to God. At Christmas, they took a ski trip to Colorado for a week.

Commandant and Helpers Keep the Corps Working

For many veirs, the Bryan Adams ROTC has been one of the most widely recognized organizations in the school. It instituted many high goals for the participating young men. Students wishing to be a part of this activity joined during their sophomore or junior years. The chance for advancement provided competition among the cadets. The young men were instructed in and, in turn, instructed the latest methods used on a firing range. Color Guards, rifle teams, drill teams, companies — all were a part of the training received by capable instructors. The future protection of the United States lay in the hands of these well-trained students.

Quality Education for All, Says DISD School Board

Change definitely ruled the work done by the Dallas Independent School District School Board led by Dr. Nolan Estes.

Besides the normal differences from one year to the next, the problems of the "Confluence of Cultures" also confronted the Board. With the basic premise of quality education, the problems of integration were few.

Daily chores were also accomplished by the School Board, including lunch-room situations, teachers salaries and other matters of School business.

All the work of the School Board, especially that of Dr. Estes, was done in an attempt to give each student in the Dailas Independent School District the best possible education.

BA Forges Ahead With Richardson's Guidance

"What happens at Bryan Adams?" If you wanted to find out, you just asked Mr. D. D. Richardson. As principal, he always made it a point to keep alreast of the many activities at BA

With a school as large as Bryan Adams, problems were bound to arise. Add to those problems the unfortunate, but real, problems of integration, and the diffirult job which faced the principal is evident.

Involvement was the key for Mr. Richardson's plan at BA. As leader and coordinator of the school, he helped with relations between teachers and students, scheduled all events, and helped students with academic problems.

Assistant Principals Active in Affairs

Students new to Bryan Adams quickly became familiar with the faces and names of the Assistant Principals Jerry Madison, Earl Killough and Marcus Freeman. Miss Sarah Carmichael, Pupil Personnel, also carried administrative duties.

Mr. Killough's duties included scheduling club meetings, choosing sponsors, scheduling assemblies, and assisting Mr. Madison and Miss Carmichael in the attendance office.

Miss Carmichael handled all pupil's personal problems, enrollment, and daily attendance.

Mr. Freeman supervised Driver's Education by TV tests, saued work permits, and helped Mr. Madison with all school activities.

In addition to handling school activities and helping with the work in the attendance office. Mr. Madison also worked with the issuing of all textbooks and with parking lot situations.

Counselors Solve Old and New Problems

September 7th marked the beginning of school and students received their schedules from homeroom teachers. Many dissatisfied students rushed to the counselor's office for help and possible changes in their schedules. Counselors not only worked with schedules but also assisted individual students with personal problems.

Mrs. Lewis handled students with last names beginning with A-C while Mrs. London worked with D-G. Mrs. Brown took charge of H-K, and Mrs. Winder counseled students 1-O, whereas students with names P-S were counseled by Mrs. Chamblee and T-Z sought assistance from Mrs. Enlow.

Bussing and enrollment of new students presented new problems with so many late enrollments. Mass confusion resulted in the counselors office. However, by the end of the third week of school, everything was under control and the rest of the year ran smoothly and problems were met and solved throughout the year.

Science Probes the Mysteries of Life

"Oh no — I just made the wrong dilution of that chemical. My teacher is going to kill me. Now we have to start all over." Many science students made such lamentations throughout the year.

Science played an important role in the curriculum of the students at Bryan Adams. The offered courses varied as widely is did the interests of the students Physical science, backgy claim stry, and physics courses enabled the students fill at least their minimum requirements, and often times more. Labs, films, and discussions of teachers' outside stacks supplemented the actual. Took work."

In the second semester, the science students participated in the Annual Science Fair. The Science Fair gave the students a chance to show their knowledge and understanding of a specific arc of science.

Students who showed a special interest in science took advanced courses in biology, chemistry and physics.

Mathematics Enlightens Learning Students' Minds

Geometry, Algebra, and Trigonometry were a few of the many math courses taught at Bryan Adams throughout the year. Touching on knowledge of past years, teachers began the task of teaching students new concepts of mathematics.

Algebra 3, 4 students attempted to learn how to use a slide rule while geometry classes dealt with postulates, definitions, and theorems. Mathematically minded students ventured into the world of analysis and calculus

For those persons intrigued by math and interested in making better grades, the Math Club and Math Symposium offered opportunities for experimenting with higher mathematics. Computer programming was also taught three afternoons a week for those students who wished to learn how to use the computer.

Foreign Languages Challenge Students

Throughout the year, many students of Brvan Adams attempted to learn a language different from their own. Struggling with the strange grammar rules and verb conjugations often presented problems for the scholars of foreign languages.

French, German, Spanish and Latin were offered. The history and customs of the ancient Romans enabled students of Latin to gain a deeper understanding of the times from which Latin came. In the Spanish, German, and French classes, modern history was taught so that the students related the language to the people

In all four courses, films and other background information about those countries enriched the course. Language labs gave students the opportunity to hear native speakers and to bear and compare their own speech to them

Foreign languages offered an interesting sidetrack from the study of one's own native tongue.

English Promotes Better Understanding

"Will we ever forget The Scarlet Letter or Hamlet or any of the other great classics we studied?" Many English students asked themselves just that. English classes studied representative works from practically every period in history from the time literature was first written in English to the present time

Students in Creative Writing sponsored by Mrs. Maryellen Wilbanks wrote and published an annual anthology of their writings.

Although literature played an important role in the English classes, the study of grammar also took a dominant position. The study of grammar gave the students an opportunity to improve their usage of the English language. English classes also enabled the students to use their outside knowledge and creativity in skits, group reports and other related topics.

History Classes Look at U.S. and Foreign Cultures

Looking back into the past, man found that history followed a pattern. He judged his decisions on the outcomes of vesterary's. The studies of cultures in today's history classes played an important role because culture was so important in man's life.

Several classes acted out historical events, while others held campaigns and elections. One semester, civics classes taught junior and senior students the concepts of American government. The following semester informed them of the history of Texas. In American History, students studied other aspects of the United States, such as the Civil War and how it affected America. Latin American History gave students insights into other people's backgrounds, including such aspects as the governments, the cultures, and the problems of their countries.

Home Ec, Industrial Arts Contribute to Experience

"A woman's place is in the home, and a man's is in the shop." Thus, the necessity of Home Economics and Industrial Arts came into being at Bryan Adams.

Home Economics taught Bryan Adams girls to serve, cook, and take care of the families they may someday have. An "all purpose" course gave the girls a knowledge of how to care for the sick and plan meals by nutritional value

Industrial Arts included such shops as plastic shop, wood shop, and metal shop. Boys built many things in these shops, but more important they learned how to use the machinery and materials in the different shops. Before the actual construction began, it was necessary for students to make a work plan and figure the cost of the materials they would need.

Home Economics and Industrial Arts gave students knowledge they need for the future.

Office Education Stresses Future Vocational Skills

Typing, Shorthand, Business Math, and Bookkeeping were included in the range of courses offered as business preparation. Office Practices trained students to become business executives or secretaries.

Career Education emphasized the use of industrial equipment for Industrial Cooperative Training students. This showed students the need for skilled laborers.

Office procedures were stressed in Vocational Office Education, while Health Occupational Cooperative Training and Home Economic Cooperative Education supplied useful knowledge to those who were interested. Students met in early morning classes and worked independently as part of their training.

For the future farmers of America, Agricultural Cooperative Training gave students the knowledge necessary for future farm and nursery management careers.

Auxiliary Departments Keep School Working

Inviting aromas of a delicious noon meal escaping from the functions, the cleanliness of the clinic, the joys of report eard day, and the silent concentration of the library brightened the days of the students at Bryan Adams.

Miss Hattie Fowler kept the library in perfect condition, while Mrs. Hepple in the clinic kept students in perfect condition

For Mrs. Ruth Roan, report eard week usually presented a few problems and a lot of work. She was kept busy with attendance-keeping and program card-making throughout the year

Under the supervision of Mrs. Ruth Swor, the lunchroom staff was consistent in keeping Bryan Adams students well-fed.

Journalism Teaches Art of Writing

Journalism classes throughout the year busied themselves with writing editorials, feature stories, and headlines. Journalism 3, 4 classes spent their time working on the Bryan Adams newspaper, the Cougar Crossroads. The first year journalism classes worked on learning to express their ideas to the public. They were required to make interviews and such as a means of acquiring the necessary material. They also helped with Cougar Crossroads the second semester.

For the traveling journalists of Bryan Adams, two conventions were highlights of the year. In December, students attended the Texas High School Press Association convention in Denton. In March, they traveled to Austin for the Interscholastic League Press Conference.

Physical Education Builds Strong Bodies 12 Ways

"Exercise began 1, 2, 3, 4 . . . " Students attended P.E. classes throughout the week. Exercises began the classes, and afterwards several sports were taught. Sports included softball, basketball, football, volleyball, and soccer.

Students were divided into several teams, with each student required to participate. Competition at times was rough but it was also rewarding

New gym trachers knew their field well and showed a desire to teach as well as participate in the sports with students

Exercising and taking part in sports two times a week helped build a healthy body. This proved that a healthy body was just as important as a healthy, knowledgeable mind.

Study Halls Provide Time to Sleep or Do Homework

Deep concentration on studies or sleep reigned in the Bryan Adams study halls. Though many students did not have a study hall because of early dismissals, late arrivals, band, or other activities, those who did found them to be life savers. This one hour out of the day gave students time to eatch up on homework they would otherwise not have time to do, including time for library research. Often study halls provided a few extra minutes for a final cramming for tests. Several students took advantage of study halls to eatch up on sleep they missed the night before.

For those who did not need to catch up on homework or sleep, the study halls were equipped with newspapers and magazines. For those luckier students, some nice study hall teachers allowed a few minutes for conversation.

TOP: Joan Brandenburg thinks she'll never get caught up.

Drama and Speech Increase Awareness

Drama classes instructed Bryan Adams students in the various aspects of the theatre. Some learned more about becoming actors and actresses while others gained more knowledge about the technical aspects of the theater

Beginning drama taught the students the basics and gave them the chance to see which portion appealed to them the most. Advanced drama built on the foundation already formed. The drama department produced several plays including "The Enchanted" done by the contest play class.

Speech courses gave the Brvan Adams student the chance to improve their speaking abilities. They also gave students a chance to understand the role of oral communication in the private and business world

Speech also provided the opportunity for students to become increasingly aware of domestic and international problems and accept the social responsibility of participating verbally in seeking solutions to these problems. The courses also enabled the student to learn how to interpret literature. Debate classes taught students exactly that.

ABON E: Two students rehearse a dramatic interpretation

Art and Music Students See New Aspect of Life

Sketching, painting, molding, and carving occupied the majority of the time of those Bryan Adams students in the art department. The art courses played an integral part of the Fine Arts Department. Many students exhibited their creations at various times in the trophy cases and in the annual Art Sale.

Few times during the day could you walk past the Band Hall and not hear some sort of musical sounds flowing forth. From the beginning band classes, to the Orchestra, to the Cougar Marching Band, "The Most Televised Band in the Land," the musicians of Bryan Adams well represented the school.

Whether in the four chorus classes or in the Concert Choir, the students in the choral department increased and augumented their singing prowess.

Social Science, Psychology, Sociology Teach About Man

Bryan Adams once again instituted a new course for the Dallas Independent School District. Social Science gave the students a chance to do independent study in a specific area.

At the beginning of the year, the students divided into several major areas of study. Such basic fields as philosophy, religion, education, and others made up the criteria for the students.

When the participants had chosen a field, each student began to pursue his own topic. Through contact with those in professional capacities and independent research in places such as the SMU library, the students gained more knowledge in their chosen fields of study.

Research culminated in a term paper showing what each student had personally learned

Social Science also had many interesting speakers and thought-inspiring field trips. The new course was begun by Mr. Jim Daniel and taught by him and Mr. Dwain Gray.

Sociology and Psychology courses provided Bryan Adams students with the opportunity to learn about themselves and the society in which they function. Psychology was taught by Mrs. Sylvia Tyra, and Sociology was taught by Mrs. Pat Osborn, Together, they sponsored the LIFE Leadership Lab.

Some of the activities of the two classes included guest speakers such as psychiatrists and policemen, and experiments. They also went on various field trips.

Many students volunteered for various types of volunteer work for the social improvement of our society.

Both Sociology and Psychology Courses held group encounter sessions to increase their knowledge of themselves and others.

Following tradition, the Bryan Adams student body and individual organizations elected queens to represent the school. The football queen, basketball queen, and Key Club sweetheart were announced following organizational voting. The Military Ball Queen was crowned in February at the Military Ball. In order to make the selection of a homecoming queen more meaningful, the student council held an open meeting in which five girls were chosen as finalists on the basis or personality, beauty, and school service. Following student body voting, the homecoming queen was crowned at the homecoming dance, Kaleidoscope, after the final football game of the season

Seventy-two, a Year to be Remembered

The senior class of 1972 looked forward to their last year at Bryan Adams with anticipation and excitement. Planning for future activities, class officers put plans for money raising projects into action. Selling toothbrushes was a new moneymaking project this year, along with the semi-traditional midnight movie. "April Fools."

The last football game of the 1971 season was made memorable by the organization of Cougar Claws, a senior boys group. Green jerseys, the Claw flag, and unleashed energy descended on BA and left an undying spirit which continued throughout the year.

The graduating class of 1972 will long remember the faculty, staff, and students of Bryan Adams High School. Looking toward the future of college and careers, seniors realized their lives had been shaped and developed at Bryan Adams.

Pridemakesan Ebby Halliday Sales Associate special!

She's part of Ebby Halliday,
Realtors, No. 1 in Dallas residential sales — and she's plenty proud of it! Proud enough to work extra hard and willing to give time to help keep her company tops.
Each Sales Associate gets special on-the-job training, too. To keep her up-to-date with trends and changes in her business. She has access to the extensive, modern facilities of five suburban offices — with computer home-

finding services and Inter-City Relocation connections. And because Ebby Halliday's staff includes over 100 Sales Associates, if she doesn't know an answer, she can find an Associate or one of the "three deep" management team who does. This cooperation between Associates, combined with extensive depth in management, gives you better service

Whether you want to sell your present house and buy a home here or in another city, or want to make a commercial real estate investment, call Ebby Halliday, Realtors. An extra-effort Sales Associate is ready to help you today!

JESUS REAL PEACE SALVATION

BIG DEAL!

Yeh, it is a big deal. I mean, think about it: your life is a big deal, isn't it? Or maybe you don't think so ... well, God does. We aren't offering you a ninety day course in Christianity, or a free Bible - only giving you a message given to us by God: God sent His Son, Jesus Christ, to die - and live again, to offer the world another chance to get itself straightened out. You have an opportunity to live the best life possible. Jesus Christ is this life. Not another trip, not an established institution, not a namby-pamby piece of fire insurance, and not a superstar. Just Jesus Christ.

This is only a piece of paper with words on it. But there are God's children in this school and this world who have words like these written on their hearts, and would be overjoyed to share Jesus Christ in their life with you. We will be praying for you.

Love,

Brothers and Sisters in Christ.

Carpet Land guarantees fine carpet.

can make of ourselves in only a short day, what more can we do in a lifetime of tomorrows?

Now you know how nice it feels, Scatter good seed in the fields Life's ours for the making, Eternety's waiting For you and me.
